RETREATED TO RENSBURG.

British Outposts Driven in by Superior Force of Boers.

LONDON, Feb. 14.-Advices from Rensburg, Cape Colony, indicate the British have been forced to vacate their positions before an overwhelming force of Boers. A dispatch dated Feb. 12, evening, says: "The Boers have again driven in the British outpost on the western flank to-day, all outposts at Bastard's nek, Hobkirk's windmill and other points retiring to Maeder's farm. There were several casualities, but details have not yet been received."

A dispatch to the Evening News from Rensburg says severe fighting occurred during the British retreat, the various outposts on both sides suffering heavy losses. The dispatch adds that it is doubtful if Rensburg can be held.

Another dispatch, dated yesterday, says: "The Boers are actively pressing around Rensburg. The British force under Lieutenant Colonel Page, consisting of a section of artillery and 150 horse which reached Slingersforte on Feb. 10, has been an emissary to see Dr. Leyds, the diplo-pounded, but his condition was not reed to fall back on Rensburg, Owing to its eastern flank being threatened. Yesposts included the withdrawal from Cole's Kop and all the surrounding posts. The ly hold him as a hostage until the indem-Boers placed a forty-pounder at Bastard's nek, commanding the surrounding country, and successfully shelled the British positions. The Boers numbered some thousands and were five to one wherever fighting occurred. The British are chafing under the necessity of a retreat from their posts, some of which they have held since the new year. The British now have no camp west of Rensburg. They safely brought off the guns from Cole's kop.

Correspondent Blindfolded by Boers. RENSBURG, Feb. 13.-An Australian newspaper correspondent, Mr. Reay, paid an interesting visit to the Boer camp on Sunday to make inquiries as to the fate of his missing colleague, Mr. Hales, of the London Daily News, who was captured by the Boers on Feb. 7, at the time Mr. Lambie, of the Melbourne Age, was killed. Mr. Reay arrived at the camp, blindfolded, just as church services were commencing. He sat blindfolded throughout the services. When he was taken before Commandant Delarey his eyes were unbandaged. Delarey was most courteous to the correspondent. He said he deeply regretted that a noncombatant had been killed and expressed his sympathy with Mr. Lambie's widow. Mr. Reay was then escorted to Mr. Lambie's grave and the latter's watch personal effects were handed over to Mr. Reay. The escort informed Mr. Reay that the two republics had 120,000 men fighting and were able to continue the war indefinitely.

BOERS HAVE ADVANTAGE.

Julian Ralph Thinks One Burgher Good as Ten Britons.

LONDON, Feb. 13.-Mr. Julian Ralph, in a letter to the Daily Mail, from Modder river, says: "British defeats at the hands of the Boers are due to the fact that the methods of modern warfare have been brought to a pause by the demonstrated power of the weapons of to-day. The essential qualities of the army of twenty years ago are no longer the supreme necessities for success. The man behind the gun stands more supreme than ever. Dig a trench and line it with good shots, supported by modern artillery, and no enemy can advance in the face of them. They may be outflanked or starved, but, while their ammunition holds out, none can oust them, for they can fill the whole plain over a radius of at least four thousand yards with such a withering blast of shrapnel and rifle bullets that no troops can stand in the open before it."

Speaking of Magersfontein, he says "The Boers' there demonstrated the fact that, given a plain, field glasses, modern rifles and quick-firing small guns, and the whole German army itself dislodge the sixty-five thousand men of the Boer republics by a frontal attack on those grass-edged trenches. fifty thousand British could have beaten those fifteen thousand Boers, except at such a sacrifice of life as no commander would require or could be pardoned for causing. For a frontal attack the old mili-tary manuals declared that the attacking force must be three times that of the defending force, but to-day, with the new weapons, it is said that ten men must attack one. One of the most formidable new conditions of war which we are experiencing is one that we have never, or next to never seen before, for there are men in our army who have never seen a Boer in battle. I know of officers who have seen only one or two in one battle and five or six in another. Our men have thrown themselves upon the veldt and have fired for hours at a time at the noise or flame at the trenches of the enemy whom they could not see. At Modder river there were whole battalions of ours that did not know at the end of the day whether the enemy was north or south of the river. A European army, fighting under European.rules, Charles Williams, the military critic of have close relations with Lord Wolseley, the commander-in-chief of the British army, writes as follows: "The government last night refused to say whether Lords Roberts and Kitchener were sent to the front without consultation with Lord Wolseley or not. It has already been so serted. Lord Wolseley learned the news from the Monday morning papers and the appointments were made on the previous

The writer declares: "The ministerial scheme developed last night in both houses is, in the main, a colossal, costly imposture, designed at once to hoax the country into the idea that some satisfactory reform of our military system is at length to be accomplished and to throw dust in the eyes of foreign nations."

BULLER'S RECENT CASUALTIES.

Revised List of Losses at Potgeiter's

Drift-Jameson in Ladysmith. LONDON, Feb. 13.-A revised list of the British casualties at Potgieter's drift, from Feb. 5 to Feb. 7, shows: Killed, 26; wounded, 319; missing, 5. The fact that General Buller's dispatch revising the casualties at Potgieter's drift is dated from Chievely is taken, in some quarters, as an indication that General Buller has removed his headquarters to that place. There is nothing to indicate whether or not he left any large force at Springfield.

There is no confirmation of the reported sortie of British troops from Ladysmith nor of the outflanking movement. It is also learned definitely that Dr. Jameson is still at Ladysmith, in spite of all the conflicting reports.

A report comes from Durban that the British artillery forced the Boers to evacuate their camp on Hlangwana hill, south of Colenso. It would be an important advantage if the British were able to occupy

A dispatch from Pietermaritzburg states that fresh meat is abundant in Natal, thirty oxen being slaughtered daily and that the Boers have over one hundred guns between the Tugela river and Ladysmith, and the Boer artillery fire greatly impresses all who see it, the guns being mounted in almost impossible places.

Under secretary of state for the Foreign Office, the Hon. St. John Broderick, was asked whether the government had received any communication from Germany modifying the declaration made in 1895 by the then minister of foreign affairs, Baron Marschal Von Bieberstein, to the effect that Germany's only policy was the maintenance of the Transvaal as an independent state, in accordance with the treaty of 1884. He replied that no communication had been received from the German government relating to the convention of 1884. which, he added, as a matter of fact, was

Replying to a question, Mr. Wyndham said the commanders in the field were selected by Lord Wolseley, subject to the approval of the secretary of state for war. and added that every selection put forward

When the debate on the army supplementary estimates were resumed, Mr. Wyndham, ouring the course of a speech, again intimated that an attempt would be made to democratize the army, which, he mid, he thought ought not to be closed to officers who did not enjoy an income of a son of the Rev. Although young women WABASH, Ind., Feb. 13.-The Industrial did not sell cocktails and other refreshments at the "American bar," as had been expected, there was a big crush and a large sum of money was realized. There were several police officials present,

The police had nothing to do, but they were present for the purpose of watching the "American bar" and if necessary prevent the carrying out of the original plans of Mrs. Langtry and other organizers of the entertainment to have young women dispense drinks. About the time that Mrs. Langtry's tea was at its height there was an informal conference by the Woman's Temperance Union at the Broadway Tabernacle. Here the "tea" was discussed from every standpoint. Mrs. Ella Poole, president of the state W. C. T. U., spoke of the affair in the following words: "It is a lamentable fact that all women are not with us. If they were we would not have presented to the American people a concert with patronesses from the "four hundred" planning to have young women stand behind a bar and urge men to drink. Such a scene is fit only for the vilest slums, and the vice would be so hideous that the law would interfere.'

HOSPITAL FUNDS NEEDED.

Friends of Britain in America. LONDON, Feb. 13. - As the conviction grows on Great Britain that the war will be long the efforts for providing for the sick and wounded and the families of the soldiers at the front are redoubling. There is scarcely a woman in England who, in addition to making articles of clothing for those in the field and in the hospitals, is not working for and contributing to some social fund. Mrs. Arthur Paget's entertainment to-night brought in over £5,000 for the families of the Household troops, in which her husband is a colonel of the Scots Guards. The Manslon House fund exceeds £690,000, the Daily Telegraph's fund amounts to £119,000, and the Daily Mail's totals £77,000. These amounts cover only the larger London funds and do not include numerous provincial funds of large amounts being raised to equip volunteers. The equipment for the yeomanry hospital has just left England for the Cape. Beatrice Chesham and Georgianna Curzon, the ladies at the head of this charity, have now decided to raise funds to keep the hospital going for six months and have residents of the United States: "We are venturing to address an appeal to our fellow-countrymen, who, although absent from their native land, are wrapped up heart and soul in its prosperity. WITH SEVEN CLUBS. New American Baseball Association

Organized at Last.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.-At a stormy session at the Great Northern Hotel, the new American Baseball Association was formally organized with seven clubs to-day. John McGraw and Phil Peterson, of Baltimore, were appointed as a committee to secure the eighth city. As the circuit now stands, it includes, in the West, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis and Louisville; in the East, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore. It was the expectation of those present that Washington would complete the eightclub circuit. The projectors of the organization proceeded immediately with the work of making a constitution and adopting by-laws, and announced that they would not be completed for a day or so. A. C. Anson was chosen president and Phil Peterson, of Baltimore, was elected secretary and treasurer. Part of a board of four directors was then chosen: C. S. Havenor, Milwaukee, G. D. Schaefer, St. Louis, and W. J. Gilmore, Philadelphia. Boston will be given a representative on the board and time to name the director. Mr. Anson said he was very much gratified over his selection as president of the new association. "Our prospects are bright," he said, in thanking the delegates for giving him the office, "and I am proud to be at the head of a baseball association

Sharkey Bests Goddard. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.-Sailor Tom Sharkey and Joe Goddard, the Barrier champion, met to-night at Industrial Hall in what was to be a six round bout. Goddard, however, was clearly outclassed and was saved in the middle of the fourth round from an almost certain knockout by his trainer, Jack Dougherty, throwing up the sponge. Sharkey in a series of terrific rushes had warmed things for the veteran until defeat seemed to be due in the next blow, when Dougherty surrendered. Goddard was still anxious to fight and made a lunge at the sailor. The two mixed things and after rapid exchanges to the efforts of the Women's Christian | Goddard slipped to the floor and with Tom on top came near rolling ingloriously through the ropes. More than 4,000 persons witnessed the fight.

One of the interesting clauses in the bill demonstrates that the company was not a limited partnership and then tells how the capital of the company was provided. It "The agreement of 1892 provided that capital to the extent of $20,000,000 should be paid in cash on or before the 30th day of June, 1892, but made no provision for the remaining capital, namely, $5,000,000. Said amount of increased capital was never paid into the association in cash, either on or before the 30th of June, 1892, or later. Said increase was made in the manner fol- the condition of the above-mentioned comlowing: On the 30th of June, 1892, the firm | pany on the 31st day of December, 1899, as of Carnegie, Phipps & Co., limited, declared a dividend of 200 per cent. on its cap- the said original statement is now on file in tal stock of $5,000,000. The amount of this this office. dividend thus declared was $10,000,000. On said 30th of June, 1892, the firm of Carnegie Brothers & Co., limited, also declared a dividend upon its then capital of $5,000,000 of 200 per cent., making the amount of the dividend thus declared $10,000,000. Checks were given by Carnegie, Phipps & Co., limited, to its members, and by Carnegie Brothers & Co., limited, to its members for their several shares of said dividends, said members being the subscribers to the articles of association of the Carnegie Steel Company, limited. These checks, thus given to six members, were indorsed over by them in payment of their several subcriptions to Carnegie Brothers & Co., limited, in payment of the several subscriptions o the Carnegie Steel Company, limited n act, no cash was paid by either of said limited companies, neither by Carnegie Brothers & Co., limited, nor by Carnegie, Phipps & Co., limited. There was no cash n bank to the credit of either company to meet said checks thus by each drawn. Subsequently Carnegie, Phipps & Co., limited, having retained assets sufficient to pay its obligations other than those assumed by Carnegie Steel Company, limited, conveyed assets of Carnegie Brothers & Co., limited, at the time of said articles of association of 1892 and for some time prior thereto, were chiefly in the shape of real and personal estate. It would have been impossible for said company to have paid said checks thus drawn by it without selling the whole or part of said property, real and | ber of milk cows, and of 2,768,612 in that personal, all of which was needed for the onduct of the business of the Carnegie Steel Company, limited, and was thereafter used by it in carrying on its business." The bill was not filed until 5 o'clock this afternoon and the Carnegie Steel Company was not notified of the suit owing to the lateness of the hour. A copy of the bill will be sent to the defendant to-morrow.

Holdings-Decrease in Number. WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.-John Hyde, statistician of the Department of Agriculture, to-day issued the following bulletin: The statistician of the Department of Agriculture has completed his annual estimate of the number and value of live stock farms. Returns from more than fifty thousand correspondents show that, on Jan. 1, there were, on the farms of the United and 41,883,065 sheep. This is a decrease of 127,783 in the number of horses, of that of mules, and of 384,151 in that of cattle other than milk cows. On the other hand, it is an increase of 302,245 in the num-
